

Processing & Handling :: Thermal & Energy Management

January 1, 2006

Applying Thermo? Then Guard Against Misconceptions

Simulation packages are highly valuable. But let neither a blind reliance on, nor an unfounded distrust of, their results lead you into errors, let alone into lapses of common sense

Abdelsalam Zeidan and Inder Rattan

Abdelsalam Zeidan is a process engineer. Mr. Zeidan's primary responsibilities include simulation, distillation design, conceptual process design and detailed engineering for large capital revamps and grass-roots projects. He previously worked as a simulation engineer in the thermodynamics department at Hyprotech and Aspentech. Mr. Zeidan is a registered professional engineer in Ontario and holds a BS degree from the University of Toronto and a MS degree from the University of Western Ontario.